Dr. H. Anderson

Since our move to the new campus, we have been coming to terms with changing methods and procedures of operation for the College because of increases in size, and the requirements of the new physical plant. There are, however, some important "old ways" which we do not want to be changed from the earlier days of the College. We want to maintain the focus on students as individuals, and to provide attention to the individual and personal side of student and college life.

A yearbook presents a kaleidoscope of images of activities and persons, and captures some impressions of College life. I trust that the pictures and captions in this student publication will bring recollections of events and of persons who were significant to you, and recall a year which was important and useful.

Dr. Anderson is on a sabbatical leave for the second semester of the 1975 - 76 term. He is attending Stanford University, in Palo Alto, California. His studies involve administration and policy analysis, and the social/psychological aspects of organizational behavior.

Student President's Message

Craig Bowling

As a newcomer to Grande Prairie and a relative newcomer to education, I have been unsure and awed. Thanks to the many good people in our College, I have been able to adjust to the new experiences. However, I still am in awe after seeing the workings of our institution over a full school year.

Grande Prairie Regional College is a "people" institution, where individuals indirectly and directly affect the lives of every member of the College community. The beauty of our institution is that each and every one of us has had a deciding factor in the running of the College if he or she so desired.

A small College permits the potential for an individual to voice his or her own opinion. Here, all faces are familiar and there are few barriers if any to communication between student, staff and administration. These are important assets in an age where almost all mankind relies on machines of one form or another to sustain their livelihood.

We live in the age of the machine, where society has provided us with mechanical gadgets ranging from complicated engines to television; society has also supplied organized institutions, such as our educational system. From the first days of our lives we have been subjected to, and fed into machines. As individuals our wills have been transferred to the will of the group vote. It is no longer what is good for me as a person but what is good for the masses as a whole.

I as an individual, find myself in a circle of ever-increasing reliance on organized groups to preserve and promote my well-being. This ever-increasing power transferred to the organized group from the individual is what many people find when they come to a larger institution, and it can not be overcome — it just gets worse. Your voice could be heard in our College, but at the larger institutions it will not be heard.

This ever-increasing reliance upon organized politics can be likened to an avoiding of responsibility by individuals: the institution assumes the responsibility for our actions. We can overcome this only by assuming and accepting the fact that we, each and everyone of us, is totally and one hundred percent responsible for everything that we do. To accept this responsibility is to remove the power of the controlling factors. If we are responsible for our actions we can slowly but surely reclaim our freedom of choice from the ruling organizations. We do not need external government to rule our lives. Our lives are limited in time and belong only to those who possess the will to carry them out to their fullest degree. It is in the end a decision that must be made by each and everyone of us: what or who is the controlling factor in my life, the welfare of the state or the will of a man.

We have learned here the freedom of choice and the satisfaction of dedication to our ideals. Let us not lose this ability to persevere in our choice, even in the fact of the mechanized world that surround us.

Love is the law, love under will.

Student Council 1975-76

The Students' Association of 1975 - 76 consisted of some fairly dedicated and hard-working students — people who gave of their time to try and make this school year an interesting memory for all. One of the greatest accomplishments was a spot of legal work, attempted in years before but never completed. A great deal of work was put in by both our Treasurer and our President to have a lease drawn up between the Students' Association and the Board of Governors. Although simple word-of-mouth has been sufficient in the past, a growing College community has made it a necessity to have a written agreement and lease with the College officials. Due to the increasing cost of providing diversion for students, the Social Committee fund was raised from $1,000.00 to $1,500.00 per year. Conferences attended throughout the year by delegates from the student body were to the ACCC in the fall, and two FAS conferences, one in the fall and one in the spring.

Naturally, in the limited space available in this action-packed book, we could not possibly go into a full-scale report on the Students' Association of 1975 - 76. However, perhaps enough has been said to trigger a few more memories in your own minds. Your Student Council would like to take this opportunity to thank all of those who aided us in making this past year one worth remembering. (Thanks to Gladys Pool, for this write-up and for much other work on the book and its composition.)

Before

The Grande Prairie Regional College will be celebrating its tenth anniversary on November 20, 1976; in that time it has undergone a number of changes, in location among other aspects. Since its beginnings, the College has been housed in the present Montrose Elementary School, the old Central Park School, the Sisters of the Holy Cross Academy, and the Holy Cross School, with a temporary Chemistry lab and some portable classrooms utilized at the latter site.

From discussion with all members of the College and community, a concept for a building to house the facilities was evolved. Douglas J. Cardinal from Edmonton was selected in May 1969 to design the structure. Unique in design, the building has no square corners, an area of 127,400 square feet: The Lounge or Concourse area serves as the focal point for much of College life. The brick for the exterior was made specifically for this project, from Alberta clay. Construction was under way in January 1973, and the first classes were held on September 9, 1974. The move from the previous location to the present was accomplished in stages, with classrooms, offices, and a temporary Bookstore the first to be transferred. The Library was installed in October, and the Gym, the new Bookstore, and the Music Department settled in by December 31. The Auditorium is scheduled to be completed by March 1976, and approval has been received for an air conditioning system, which will be operational by September 1976.

Credit and special mention should go to Dr. Henry Anderson and the Board of Governors of the Grande Prairie Regional College, who had the dream of the College in its own location and saw it through.

Pictured here are both the last home of College facilities and some shots of the new location.

The Performing Arts Division may be described as one third teaching and two thirds performing. Instruction is available at two levels: College and University Music courses; and Individual instrumental training in the Conservatory of Music. Performing is by four different groups: Symphonic Orchestra, Mixed Chorus, Concert Band, and College Players. Needless to say, many hours of instruction and rehearsal precede any performance.

Bob was born in Beaverlodge in 1938 and came to the College in 1974 (from the U of A) with a degree in Art Education. His works have been published in books such as BEAVER-LODGE TO THE ROCKIES and PIONEERS OF THE PEACE. One of Bob's vital concerns is conservation.

Doctor Kozar

The Grande Prairie Booster describes Dr. Frank Kozar as resembling Clark Kent, gentle in nature, with an ability to put people at ease, an ever-present pipe, and sporting a crisp, military mustache. This kinetic Chairman of the University Transfer Division of the College is that and more.

On his desk one can find confirmation of grants from two prestigious sources — the Boreal Institute for Northern Studies and from the National Research Council — for the pursuit of research studies in two areas of cytogenetics.

The Boreal Institute grant is a rarity, for it has been repeated. Not often does the Institute grant additional support for projects, but Dr. Kozar's work in this area has been outstanding.

Good Times

Visiting Speakers

The Grande Prairie Regional College has had a number of distinguished guests. Among these it has been lucky enough to have had a visit from Prime Minister Pierre E. Trudeau. This took place in the Gymnasium. There was an address followed by a question period: the basic theme was "The great diversity of Canada is her greatest strength; federal-provincial tensions are to be expected." Mr. Trudeau stressed that Ottawa is concerned about the West.

On March 17, 1975, Peter Lougheed, Alberta's Premier, was at the College. He gave his campaign address, the basic theme of which was the Conservative Party Platform, and was also held in the Gym.

March 18 was highlighted by a visit from Campbell Ross, an NDP candidate for the Grande Prairie Constituency. He gave a formal address to the Student Assembly, centering on the NDP Campaign Platform.

The Liberal Candidate for Grande Prairie, Godon Astle, gave a formal address to the Student Assembly on March 19, during which he outlined the major points of the Liberal Platform.

On March 21 Winston Backus, the Conservative Candidate for Grande Prairie was at the College. His message concerned the Conservative Platform.

Ian Wight, a Senior Research Planner for the Peace River Planning Commission, visited the College as well. His basic theme involved the concern for "The Effects of the Dunvegan Dam on the Peace Country."

On November 20, Dave Willis, a well-known criminal lawyer from Grande Prairie, addressed interested students and staff. The highlight of his speech concerned "Canada's changing judicial system and the implications for Canada's youth."

January 13, 1976 was marked by a visit from Grant Notley, a distinguished leader of the NDP party.

Skiing 1974-1975.

Ski clubs are for beginners as well as the old hands. This year was no exception, with a good mixture of both the newcomers and those more experienced on the slopes. A trip was made to Azu Village, near Pine Pass, on January 3, and was great, with the beginners learning quickly as they kamikazied down the length of the bunny run, leaving a trail of sit-marks. The old hands did their shoulder rolls and hot-dogged for the three days of great skiing that was enjoyed by all. Fun and merriment were the order of the day after the hill closed; they added to the feeling of comraderie and created a few memories.

A year-end trip in April as well as the ski class tour during Reading Week highlighted an enjoyable and active club year.

An abstract geometric composition featuring a central white rectangular area containing the text "1975-6". This central area is surrounded by four complex, overlapping wireframe structures. Each structure is composed of numerous thin black lines that form a series of interconnected triangles and polygons, creating a sense of depth and movement. The lines radiate from central points within each of the four surrounding structures, some extending towards the corners of the page. The overall effect is a dynamic, architectural drawing that combines geometric precision with organic, flowing forms.

Stanley Burke Visits College

"The Third World" was the major subject under discussion when Stanley Burke, author, journalist and broadcaster visited the College on October 30 as part of the Alberta World Reflections Programme.

Talking to a packed lecture theatre, Burke sketched his impressions of the benefits of a closer association between Canada, more specifically Alberta, and the countries of the "Third World."

Burke maintained that Albertans could learn a great deal from people of different cultural backgrounds. "We are, as a people," he said, "too self-centered."

Responding to a question from a member of the audience to the effect that there were people in Canada who still had little or no real knowledge of parts of their own country, Burke replied that it was not these people with whom the programme was concerned. As regards cultural exchange visits, only those with an adequate knowledge of their own country could expect to be included, in order to pass on this knowledge.

On his career as a journalist, Burke reflected: "It is the primary concern of the media to sell disaster. When they can't find one, they invent one." Perhaps a harsh comment from one of Canada's foremost mediamen.

Burke concluded that one of the main points that people in the so-called "developed" countries could learn from those of the "Third World" was the ability to remain content in the face of adversity. This, he felt, was one of the most striking things that he had noticed during his career.

Conferences

The ACCC was instituted in November of 1970 at a National Congress on the Community Colleges in Ottawa by 300 delegates representing more than seventy Post-Secondary Non-Degree institutions from our ten provinces. The ACCC's objectives were set up as follows: to set up "Learning House" services for the Colleges of Canada; to provide liaison between and among the Colleges and with other related Institutions, Associations, and Organizations; to initiate research for the Colleges of Canada.

ACCC is a non-profit, voluntary, national association of institutions, organizations and individuals interested in the growth, development and potential of the Community Colleges of Canada.

The annual 1975 ACCC Convention was held at the Vancouver Hotel on November 10 - 12. It included both the Mini-Conference, which pertained mainly to Student affairs, and a much larger National Convention, which dealt primarily with Faculty and Administration.

It was felt that the Convention was not as beneficial for our College as it could have been. It was a great experience for the individual person attending, but there seemed to be little or no justification for our College to send any Student Delegates next year. Hopefully though, the ACCC will, in future years, apply some of its forums and discussions to the Student, so that they may also reap benefits from this organization.

The Federation of Alberta Students is a newly-formed student association in the province. Its main objective is to act as a strong go-between for the provincial government and the interests of the individual students enrolled in post-secondary institutions across the province.

The Federation held its first bi-annual Convention on October 24 - 26, 1975, at Mount Royal College in Calgary. The seven topics under discussion were: transferability, student housing, student financing, student day - care centers, the Adult Education Act, the 11 ceiling imposed on spending, and a Fine Arts brief.

Bev Rogers, Public Relations Vice-President of the College, attended the Conference. She said that, "It was there that I really learned what education is all about . . . the Convention was a success, and I think that all of the delegates went back to their respective institutions more aware of our education system, and grateful for the progress made by FAS."

Marianne Bednas

In books lies the soul of the whole Past Time: the articulate audible voice of the Past, when the body and material substance of it has altogether vanished like a dream.

Thomas Carlyle in "The Hero as a Man of Letters"

Thomas Carlyle expressed very well what I and the rest of the Yearbook staff have tried to achieve in this volume. We have taken the resources available to us — pictures, write-ups, artwork, writings, people — and tried to combine them in a meaningful way. We hope that the end product of this work will help those who were at the College for this time to remember the events that took place.

Due to a non-completion of last year's book, we have included as much of the materials originally intended for publication in 1974 - 75. But it cannot be by any means a complete account, as a majority of last year's materials disappeared in the interval between last spring and fall. We have included all the pictures and write-ups possible though.

This year, we have tried to cover as many of the year's highlights as possible, and to present them in some type of sequence. One major problem faced, as usual for almost anything, was a shortage of reliable help in production. People like Verda, Russ, and Beth are an excellent core group, but numbers as well as quality of workers is what is really needed. Some problems were experienced with photography this year, the main one being the lack of a full-time Yearbook photographer (s). Acknowledgement goes to Duane and Les, for their work in the first semester, Darrell, for doing a large percentage of the "mug" shots, and Tom, for helping us out with the skiing section this year. In some cases, due to mixups, misunderstandings or what-have-you, we were not able to have pictures taken of some events, and therefore have used photos supplied by the local HERALD - TRIBUNE.

Putting together this Yearbook was an experience, what kind I'm not sure yet, but an experience. My life would have been a lot less hectic if I had not taken the job on, but then we might not have had a Yearbook at all, and most people seemed to want one, so ... Thanks again to everyone that helped out in any capacity with the book, people like Bob Guest, who did the division pages, Dal, Elfie, Mary, Sharon, Kris and Debbie. It is our impression of our time at the College. We hope it is enjoyable and has some meaning for you, now and in the years to come.

The College Players' production of MARY, MARY created something of a record in Grande Prairie. The play, which was scheduled for January 22 - 24, 1976 was sold out before opening night. So the producer was persuaded to hold the play over. It was played again to near-full houses on the 30 - 31 of January.

MARY, MARY is a witty comedy by Kerr. It was a great success on Broadway. The play offered the audience a warm and witty examination of a modern marriage gone hilariously awry.

The cast, as usual, consisted of a blend of College and community people: Robert Heuermann, Gerry McMillan, Kathy Harper, Bill Shepherd, and Angie Heimdall. The production crew was almost entirely the students of the Drama 130 class.

Director Sukumar Nayer, whose previous plays for the College Players have been "heavies" like HEDDA GABLE, THE VISIT, and THE ROYAL HUNT OF THE SUN, required a lot of coaxing before he undertook a comedy — and those who were involved one way or another are grateful that he did. One hopes that he will continue to direct fun-filled plays in the future.

Sukumar had hoped that the annual production of the College Players would be an extravaganza on the new stage in the College Auditorium. It seems that the event will have to wait for awhile.

The College Players also entered the Adult Drama Festival with Chekov's THE SAFETY MATCH. The Festival had nine plays, and the adjudicator was Walter Kassa. Once again, the Cast had students and community players, in various roles.

Thanks goes to the Herald-Tribune for the pictures on this page.

Kidnappings

Two kidnappings and four arrests in Grande Prairie February 14 resulted in a total of $400 being donated to the Peace School of Hope.

The first incident occurred shortly after 1 p.m. when 5 Composite High School students, calling themselves the Grande Prairie chapter of the Jewish Defense League (JDL), went to the Regional College and abducted Muriel Collins, Chairman of the Board of Governors there. The JDL demanded a ransom of $100 be paid by the College to the Peace School of Hope for her safe return. A spokesman for the group said, "We want a rivalry between the Comp and the College."

And a rivalry they soon got, when 12 College students — the Saint Valentine's Delayed Reaction Committee (SVDRC) — invaded the Composite about 3 p.m. Ten men and two women of the SVDRC forced school principal Len Luders out of his office and into a waiting car which took him to the College. SVDRC, using the radio station as an intermediary, also demanded a $100 ransom for the Peace School of Hope, after having demands for an apology from the High School students flatly refused.

It was finally decided to have an exchange of prisoners and promissory notes for the $100 ransoms at the Avondale Church of Christ, 10106 - 112 Avenue, and it was peacefully negotiated.

Shortly after the exchange was made RCMP officers arrived at the scene and "arrested" two ringleaders from the JDL, Norm Driver and John Hardenbrook. The law and the ringleaders then proceeded to the College where 2 members of the SVDRC, Ralph Sliger and Uwe Paul, were taken into custody. With leaders from both sides incarcerated at the police station, a police officer contacted the radio station saying they would be released upon payment of $50 bail each. These funds would also be forwarded to the Peace School of Hope. By 8 p.m. enough money had been raised for the release of only one person. The police then decided to make each sign a notice to appear in "court" at a trial to be held in the Comp at a later date, with local officials officiating.

1976 Ski Team

The alpine ski team started the year with a new coach, Donna Chinchin. Donna's experience with racing in U.S. National meets gave promise of an opportunity to really improve our racing skills. We started a dry land training program in late November to get into top condition for the ski season. "Puff, pant, groan!"

There were a few problems. The lack of snow and cold weather made local skiing impossible through January. As well, we had no cooperation from the local ski club. After we all bought tow tickets or $75.00 season passes, they would not allow us to run gates on the hill without paying extra rates. We know of no other skiers in Canada that have to pay extra to train.

Despite no snow and little practice, we managed to race very successfully. In conjunction with the newly-formed Peace Region Alpine Ski Club, all our racers were sanctioned and started out at the "D" level. Barry Pardell and Donna Chinchin managed to move up to "C" by skiing fantastically at Rabbit Hill. We all entered the Alberta Winter Games qualifying races and Dave, Donna, Joan and Martha earned a free trip to Banff to compete. The season ended with a dual ACAC meet against SAIT at Mount Norquay. The meet was lots of fun and good hard skiing. Tom O'Sullivan earned second place overall in the men's and Martha Wade second for the women.

Next year? More skiing, more work, more fun and more success.

Swimming

The College students had an advantage this year over previous students in having the use of the indoor swimming pool (at the Recplex), to allow swimming during the winter months. The courses held were instructed by Martha Wade and were fulfilled and much enjoyed by all who took them.

College Calendar

This year a different type of event occurred at the College. The Art 231 Design class was given the unique opportunity to design a cover for the 1976 - 1977 College Calendar.

The idea was to take some aspect of the Peace River area and simplify it into a cut-out format to project an image that would be a suitable design. Only two colors were to be used, along with black or white.

Top quality works were submitted – 14 in all. The designs were displayed during College Weekend, where the public had a chance to view them and vote on the one they preferred.

The judging was a task none were too fond of, because of the top-notch quality of work done, so it was decided to leave it to three individuals: Mr. Don McGowan, President of the College, Mr. Don Harper, Registrar and Director of Student Services, and Mr. Robert Guest, Art Staff Instructor.

It was Joyce Whitlie who took home the $25.00 prize and the winning design. Hers featured various images of the College activities surrounding a map of Alberta on the front cover (done in brown on a yellow background and a wild rose on the back (portrayed in the same colors). The images depicted Fine Arts, Physical Education, Performing Arts, Science and Industrial Education symbols.

The public's decision was a little different. The most popular design was Russell Snoble's, capturing twice as many votes as any other. A group consisting of Jim Grotkowski, Janice Olson, Irma Tshaja and Joyce Whitlie were the next favored choice, and very deservedly so.

Congratulations to all those who entered, as the submissions were all very well done.

Car Rally

College students literally hit the road a lot during the year as participants in the several slaloms and car rallies sponsored by the Grande Prairie Motor Club.

The "crown jewel" event was the annual Cabin Fever Rallye held on March 7, 1976, a 150-mile event that complimented the successful College Weekend. Ian Smith and his navigator did very well in this event. But the event that sparked the most participation was the first annual Chasse Du Loup Nordique Rally in September that kicked off the year.

The Car Rallye went off fine with ten entries, and the following results: First overall - Terry Konrad and Gerry Eherer with 38 penalty points (won Mixed class); Second overall - Charlene Finaly and Pam Smith with 39 penalty points (won Women's class); Third - Darrel Radbourne and Janet Baillie with 59 points; Fourth - Wayne Davis and Tim Sebastian with 70 points (won Men's class); Fifth - Preston and Kikki Brownschlaigle with 98 points; Sixth - Robert Westover and Murray Nyffler with 115 points; Seventh - Darcy Rautenstrauch and Sharon Glenn with 181 points; Eighth - Verda Heidebrecht and Sharon Brower with 239 points; Ninth - Bruce Perry and Doug Carter with 282 points; Tenth - Jamey Ellingboe and Rob Parsons who Did Not Finish.

In February the GearJammer Auto Slalom in the College parking lot attracted a lot of student entries and although no one injured his car, there was a lot of off-route sliding in the snow and gravel. It was an unqualified success, with all the best drivers of the College students, faculty and staff coming out to test their skills on a demanding course. There were three classes: under 100 inches wheelbase, over 100 inches and The Big Ones. Respectively, Class I Top three were: A.J. Eilers in a Toyota Pickup in 2:01 minutes; Cheryl Galatiuk in a Datsun pickup in 2:07; and Phillip Hills in a Ford Courier in 2:09. Class II was taken by Pete Vogan in his hot Audi in 1:78 minutes with Doug McCracken in his Mustang a close second with 1:87. Terry Shewchuk came third with 1:93 in his Volvo stationwagon. Class III was won by Richard Briere in a Dodge Charger in 1:95 minutes; Rob Sweigard took his Fargo Half-ton to second in 2:05 minutes and Ron Schartner came third in his Firebird in 2:32.

Overall, Pete Vogan was on top with 1:78, then: Doug McCracken, 1:87; Jim Letursky, 1:91; Terry Shewchuk, 1:93; Rick Briere, 1:95; Vic Ford, 1:96; A. J. Eilers, 2:01; Rob Sweigard, 2:05; Cheryl Galatiuk, 2:07; Phillip Hills, 2:09; Stu McGregor, 2:12; Ian Smith, 2:25; Ron Schartner, 2:32, and Rick Adair, with 2:54. Rick took only one run, though, the first of the day on an icy course and came third overall and first in his class on that first run. However, everyone pulled up their socks on the second run and left him behind. Tough tarpaper, Rick! But the students appreciated your having to go to a Board of Governors' meeting.

If one had to pick a driver of the year it would have to be Doug McCracken from Fort St. John in his Mustang. Doug admittedly had a big drawback in choice of vehicle but he managed to overcome it with driving skill and aggressiveness.

Tapestry

Tapestry staff members (for the initial meetings): Editor - Charlene Santa, Assistant Editor - Roy Williams, Treasurer/Advertising - Roger Ungstad, Photography/Sports - Dave Rowe, General Staff - Roy Ripkins, Diane Rowson, Donna Clare, Doug Carter.

The Tapestry was raised from obscurity (we hope) by the Editor, Charlene Santa. She had worked on the one issue which was produced in 1974, and was the most experienced member of the group who started out on this bold venture. The first meeting held to formulate the idea of the newspaper was late in October (or thereabouts) and the initial group was quite a few members larger than that which eventually formed the nucleus.

In fact, the Tapestry came very, very close to folding down completely without producing a single issue this year, until Roy Williams took over the job of preparing the paper for publication, and got a single, but commendable issue out just in time for the College Weekend Open House. It is the hope that the efforts of Roy and those who helped him will not go unappreciated.

In addition to putting out an edition of the College newspaper, Roy is to be noted for at least one other accomplishment. He is an exchange student sponsored by the Rotary Club, who is spending a year here, and will be returning to his native England later this spring.

Grande Prairie Mayor Jim May receives the plaque of the town of Newport, England, from Rotary Club exchange student Roy Williams. Mr. Williams has been in the city since August 25, and is a first-year arts student at the College. Newport, with a population of about 16,000, is 60 miles south of Liverpool and 32 miles from the Welsh border. Photo credit - Jeff Harris, of the HERALD-TRIBUNE.

If we have missed you off any lists, put you on more than one list, put you on the wrong list, or spelled your name wrong, we apologize. We had an awful lot of names to work with, and even with people double-checking the work, mistakes can slip through.

MY WILL

I give Dwayne my love
 for we looked for it so long and found it in each other.

I give my parents my patience and consideration because it is from them that I acquired it.

I give my brothers and sisters
 my love for life because it is with them that I shared it.

To my grandparents I give my youth for it is they who know its value.

I give my soul to God
 For it is from him that
 I received it.

Jude/Spring 1975

UNDER THE INFLUENCE OF SURGERY

You can hurt me man
 Like no one else can.
 I lie in my bed with temperature high waiting for you to just drop by.

Twilight comes in, no sight of you.
 Depression sets in the nite of blue.
 With dull eyes damp but ears alert
 I welcome a needle despite the hurt.

Away from reality, back to dreams.
 They bring you closer or so it seems.
 Then I hear your footstep in the hall.
 I knew you would come after all!

I see you clearly as you come thru the door.
 There fades my dream. Is there no more?
 What will happen? Where will this end?
 Will you forever remain only a friend?
 Leda Reaume

Christmas - When There Was Naught

Tell me, what makes those days of late December into the glory that we call a certain dark and coldest night a Christmas Eve? Could it be gifts piled high, good food and lovely things — or children filled with wonder at the magic of a sparkling, tinsely tree? Can you also have Christmas when there is naught but the lack of these things — Can you?

The woman in the bed looked old and cold her blue eyes dark with misery the corners of her mouth showed bitterness. This new Land — ach, so big with loneliness, so frightening — was cruel. Cruel. Here it was almost Christmas Eve and there was really nothing, in the house to make the coming Fest a time of joy for her six children No — there were seven now a newborn babe lay in the bed beside her. It was not always so at Christmas time, ach no Before the hammer and the sickle drove the family from their house and land they had all needed things to make their Christmas gay. They were a well-respected family them as well-to-do as anyone around and spared not food or lovely things for their enjoyment of the holiday. But now they'd left it all behind and fled with but their lives and little else. Life in this newest pioneer frontier was hard Peace River — land of promise for the future, (but called by cynics 'midst its struggling pioneers: "Land where green feed and babies are the major crops") had filled the latter promise — and not much else as yet.

There were three babies now and very little else. Their homestead land, a quarter section of raw heavy poplar bush, and swamp besides, could not sustain them. Odd jobs, where'er they could be found must supplement the meager living from the land. During the spring and summer had the father cleared a bit of land at a new site, and there built up a small house of poplar logs. They had lived in a chicken shed till then — low — small — and dark. How glad they were to move into the little house; but winter coming early caught them unprepared; the cracks between the round uneven logs were hurriedly stuffed up with anything that could be used — But still the snow seeped in . . . . So weary — mother looked up at the cracks again then counted up the logs — four big ones, then a medium sized and so on — what else was there for her to do? She counted all the boards again that made the bottom of the roof, for ceiling there was none in this low house.

Ach, the house was quiet now. So quiet, after all the noise of children each determined he was right and must be heard. The babes were all asleep, the one beside her, the other two – the one-year old, – quite near at hand so she could hush them they wake. The older four had gone with Father to the concert at the school. The three who went to school had been a glow with what they would be doing in the concert – singing, a bit part in a play, performing in a drill – “Oh, mother, we will tell you much when we get home.” The wood-filled heater gave a welcome warmth, the quiet peace of sleeping babes soothed the frustrated mother. She could feel herself relax and let thoughts come and grow that were not bitter; so tiny but so perfect and what she could become in the far distant future! Ah, Christmas time and babies go together – Without “The Babe” there never would have been a Christmas. He must have seemed as sweet and helpless to His mother as this wee girlie with her hands up in surrender. Softly the mother now began to hum a “Stille Nacht.” Oh silent, holy night that brought men peace. . . . And suddenly the thought of Christmas coming thrilled her heart and little plans, ideas, came to life “We’ll have the nicest tree – our land has trees galore – if Dad gets one with all its cones still on it, it doesn’t need much more. The precious colored pages of the catalogue will make nice chains to hang thereon – the children will enjoy the making of these chains for their own tree. And there are cookies left, hidden outside in Nature’s great deep-freeze. We will have a Christmas – thank God!” Then from outside the sound of runners on the frozen snow and harness jingling – Whoa! In stormed the children – “Mother, Mother, look we have so much!” and all the treasures were poured onto Mother’s bed as each one tried to talk before the other. Under the tree at school there had been candy bags for everyone, even one for the newborn babe – “Mother, that one is yours.” And there were gifts – some little thing for every child. “God bless these dear, kind people,” whispered Mother, this country is not cold and hard; such thoughtfulness means there are folk who understand and care. The children standing round her bed had eyes brimful with wonder and with joy too much for them to hold. “Why, Christmas is already here!” sang Mother’s heart. And if the wonder and the joy and worship is all found, what need for any more?

- Mary Epp

Now I lay me down to sleep,
With my homework in a heap.

If I should die before I wake,
I have but six requests to make.

Lay my Sociology books at my feet,
Tell Bibi Laurie it had me beat.

Lay my Shorthand books by my head,
Tell Sister Irene of the tears I've shed.

Lay my Filing books at my side,
Tell Mrs. Thomas how hard I tried.

Lay my English books at the other side,
Tell Sister Irene that's why I died.

Lay my Typing books close at hand,
Tell Mr. Loughheed I've had all I can stand.

Throw my Accounting books under the bed,
Tell Sister Doris I'm glad I'm dead.

MY LOVE DEAR LOVE IS NEVER DEAD

My love dear love is never dead;
Muse holds pen so leafs don't close,
I have love so love has clothes!
Love sweet love, but life's a thread!
Could I but decide the hour —
I would live forever,
And my love would die never!
Time may come, but love not sour.
Since I saw thee last yester eve,
I have a greater love for thee;
My love has grown twelve hours longer,
Twelve hours stronger,
Now twelve hours surer,
Sure of loving, surer of love.

Kris
