GPRC Calendar Course Description:

This course examines the cultural, social and economic context in which political actors in Canada seek to protect and advance their interests and power. Attention is given to divisions or cleavages as well as unifying elements.

Topics will include language, culture, political culture, economic class cleavages, gender, ethnic diversity, political socialization and social movements, interest groups and Canada's external political environment provided by the United States and the rest of the world.

This course along with PO2210, Introduction to Canadian Political Institutions, Federalism and the Constitution, constitutes a full year introduction to Canadian politics. The two courses provide preparation (and serve as a prerequisite) for further studies in Canadian Politics at the postsecondary level.

Contact Hours:

This is a three credit course with three hours of instructional time most weeks.

Delivery Mode:

Classroom time will be used for lectures and discussions.

Course Objectives:

This course is intended to familiarize you with the varied context in which Canadian political debates and decisions occur.

Upon completion of this course you should be much better prepared to take part in Canadian political activity as a citizen, and to pursue further studies in Canadian politics at the post-secondary level. (PO2220 and POLI320B continue the process.)

Notes on Transferability:

Successful completion of both PO2210 and PO2220 is needed to obtain credit for having taken the equivalent of POLS220 at the U of A.

Athabasca students in POLI320 must register in both Part A and Part B. P2210 transfers to AU as 2XX (3 credits).

Students should check with other institutions concerning transfer of credits as all arrangements are subject to change. Note that a grade of D or D+ may not be accepted at other post-secondary institutions.

Course requirements:

Attendance and participation .....	10%
Short test on part I.....	15%
Midterm exam .....	25%
Term Paper.....	25%
Final exam .....	25%

* You are expected to reference sources fully and properly for your term paper. An instructor's handout will provide assistance. See the College Calendar for information on penalties for cheating and plagiarism.

* You are strongly advised to keep a copy of your own of any written work you submit for grading.

** Students who miss an excessive number of classes may be denied the opportunity to write the final exam, as stated in the Calendar.

** You are expected to write the final exam on the date it is scheduled. Take this into account when making any December travel plans.

For information on key dates and other important matters, see the Calendar as well.

Marks will be given in percentage figures before conversion to a letter grade.
